The musical score is written for a dulcimer in D major (two sharps) and 4/4 time. It consists of a vocal melody line and a corresponding dulcimer line. The dulcimer line uses a standard numbering system where 0 represents the open string, 1-5 represent frets on the first five strings, and 6+ represents a fretted octave. Chord symbols (D, G, A) are placed above the melody line. The score is divided into four systems, each containing a measure number (1-12) and a chord symbol. The lyrics are written below the melody line. The tempo is marked as 88 beats per minute. The arrangement is by Larry Conger.
